

University Students Are Rating Faculty On Ten Basic Qualities

Helpful Remarks May Be Entered On Score Sheets

Faculty members being rated under the Student Government Association's faculty-ratings are judged by students on 10 "qualities, that, taken altogether, tend to make a teacher the sort of teacher he is."

Each of the 10 points may be checked on a scale from 10, the highest, to 0, the lowest.

The points listed on the faculty rating sheets, and the scales on which they are graded are:

1. Preparation for class meetings—class meetings carefully planned and conducted; usually some preparation, sometimes seems inadequate; and little or no preparation, wanders.
2. Presentation of subject matter—clear, definite, and forceful; sometimes mechanical and monotonous; and indefinite, involved, and monotonous.
3. Ability to interest students—interest usually runs high; students seem only mildly interested; and majority inattentive most of period.
4. Scholarship—knowledge of subject broad and accurate; knowledge apparently deficient at times; and knowledge very plainly deficient.

5. Stimulates critical and independent thinking—work demands much sound original thinking; thinking and memorization required about equally; and thinking discouraged.
6. Tolerance and liberality—welcomes differences of opinion; sometimes his views; and easily aroused to temper by opposition.
7. Attitude toward students—courteous, approachable, good will prevails; generally indifferent, helps when asked; and curt, impatient, or unapproachable.
8. Personal appearance—always well groomed, clothes usually neat and clean; usually somewhat untidy, gives little attention to appearance; and slovenly, clothes untidy and ill-kept.
9. Personal peculiarities—manner pleasing, free from annoying mannerisms; objectionable mannerisms not serious or numerous; and constantly exhibits annoying mannerisms.
10. Grading system—excellent, impartial and sufficient information for grades; doesn't seem to care if grades are accurate; and shows partiality, tests poorly graded.

A section for constructive or helpful remarks is also provided at the bottom of the rating sheet.

Election Date For 10 Seats Set By SGA

Ten representatives to the Student Government Association will be elected next month by the UK student body. A new vice president will also be elected to fill the unexpired term of Jim Thompson, who will be graduated in January.

At its regular Monday night meeting the SGA moved to hold the fall election on Wednesday, Dec. 12. According to the constitution of the assembly, applications by candidates must be presented at the Registrar's office by 4 p.m. Dec. 5.

The College of Arts and Sciences will elect one upper class man, one lower class man, one upper class woman, and one lower class woman. All other colleges except engineering will elect only one representative.

One upper class man and one lower class man will be elected from the College of Agriculture and Home Economics will elect one upper class man. The College of Commerce will elect one lower class man.

Both the College of Education and the College of Law will elect one representative at large.

SGA Dance To Be Held On Nov. 24

The second Student Government Association sponsored all-campus dance will be held from 8 to 12 p.m. next Saturday night in the Ballroom of the SUB. Johnny Heaton and his Blue and White Orchestra will play for the dance, which will follow the Tennessee game. Admission will be $1.50, stag or drag.

Members of the Tennessee student body have been invited to the dance by the SGA. No tickets will be reserved at the dance, Jess Gardner, SGA representative in charge of the dance, said this week.

"It will be first come, first served, to independents and Greeks alike," Gardner said.

The dance will be informal.

Card Section Tickets To Be Given Early

Card section tickets for the Tennessee game will be distributed Wednesday instead of Friday, a SGA spokesman said this week. Tickets may be obtained at the ticket booth in the SUB.

Guthrie To Speak Tonight On Hollywood Experiences

A. B. Guthrie Jr., Pulitzer Prize winner and present UK faculty member, will talk about his recent script-writing work in Hollywood at 8 o'clock tonight in the Guignol Theater.

Titled "Little as I know about Hollywood," Mr. Guthrie's speech will deal with his experiences as a historical novelist preparing a movie script on a historical subject.

A former city editor of the Lexington Leader, Guthrie became famous with his first best seller, "The Big Sky." Equally familiar to fiction readers is his Pulitzer Prize winner, "The Way West."

In January of this year Mr. Guthrie got a leave of absence from his post as English lecturer at UK to accept an assignment from producer George Stevens, noted for his recent production, "A Place in the Sun."

In addition, Guthrie gathered material for a forthcoming book on Yellowstone National Park, one of the "Rivers in America" series.

Guthrie's comprehensive study of life in Kentucky appeared in Holiday magazine last spring. He is under contract with the same magazine to do a future story on Utah.

At present, Mr. Guthrie is conducting a creative writing workshop in the Fine Arts Building every Thursday afternoon.

Cornerstone Will Be Laid By Louis Cox

The laying of the cornerstone of the new Mineral Industries Building will take place at 3:30 p.m. today.

President pro tempore Louis Cox will wield the trowel, and vice-president L. M. Chamberlain will accept the building on behalf of the University.

The building, when completed, will consist of an east wing, central unit, and west wing. It will be three stories high and will be located at Limestone street and Graham avenue. The units will house the State Department of Mines and Minerals, the Kentucky Geological Survey, the Department of Mining Engineering, the Department of Geology, and other divisions whose work is allied to the state's mineral industries.

The need for such a modern building has long been felt and the research contemplated in it is expected to go a long way toward the further development of Kentucky's natural resources.

Yellow Line Parking Illegal At All Times

Student Government Association parking regulations regarding yellow lines on campus are in force at all times. Tickets will be given for violations.

New Talent Wanted For Spring 'Vague'

By Kathy Fryer

"Those who can't write hand in reams of copy; those who can hide them under the mattress."

Thus Dr. Jane Haselden, faculty advisor, commented on the manuscripts for Vague, the campus creative writing magazine, sponsored by Chi Delta Phi.

"Many of our contributors had never written before," she continued. "One girl who had her first poem published in Vague sent the other copy to Seventeen. They called her long distance a few days later for permission to use it."

Dr. Haselden stressed the need for more new talent for this literary magazine that goes on sale every spring.

Not a Highbrow
Don't let the word "literary" scare you, though. This thirty-page, slick-paper booklet is not so highbrow as a bald-headed man; in fact, since it is written entirely by students, most of the stories have a refreshingly modern slant.

For an idea of the type of manuscripts Vague uses, take a look at last year's copy. There's David Simcox's realistic murder story with the twisted surprise ending, Barbara Jones' brutally penetrating poem about a young man going off to war, and Judy Pannell's weird dialogue about a rabbit (or was he a man?).

Bill Mansfield, present editor of the Kernel, wrote a story about teenagers and the tired emptiness of their small town; David Dick contributed his play, "The New Marshall," that was produced by the UK laboratory theatre last year.

Men Are Welcome
Just because Vague sounds like a pun on the name of a top fashion magazine and is sponsored by an all-girl organization, don't think that the women have a monopoly on it.

As was shown in the brief rundown of last year's winners, about half of the winning manuscripts published by Vague were written by boys.

The members of Chi Delta Phi are trying to find a more descriptive name for their magazine this year. Vague is good, but... Anyone with a good idea for a name should let Bonnie Compton, this year's editor, know about it.

Students Are Interested
College students in general are interested in creative writing as demonstrated by the large number of them that hopefully send their stories to the leading magazines.

Here at UK there is an even better chance of seeing your brain-child in print by sending it to the only publication on the campus that accepts fiction.

Vague is not limited to fiction, however. Satires, essays, and sketches are welcomed by the staff.

Do you have to be an English or Journalism major, you ask? Not necessarily. It helps to be able to spell and use correct grammar, of course, but students from any department may try their hand. Just write about something you know, whether it be engineering, stuffing ovals, dating, or deep-sea diving.

More Comedy Needed
"We need more comedy for this year's issue," declared one Chi Delta Phi member.

Only one of the stories in last year's Vague could be called funny. It was Joan Cook's tongue-in-cheek farce with the usual boy-meet-girl theme turned inside out.

Poems fill a lot of space in Vague, too. They include full page, four lines, rhyming, free verse, and every other kind of poem imaginable.

The characters in the last issue speak all different forms of the English language. There is rural dialect, Italian brogue, city-slicker slang, and the ordinary small talk of the average teen-ager.

Vague offers a wonderful opportunity to ambitious young writers who want to get a start. If this describes you, don't pass it up.

Pep Rally To Be Held Tuesday Night

A mammoth Sucky "Beat Tennessee" pep rally will be held at 8 o'clock Tuesday night at the Sweater Swing in the SUB Ballroom. Football players and members of Sucky will present a program, and the winning cheer from the recent contest will be practiced.

Betty White, cheerleader manager, said Tuesday night will be the first time the prize-winning cheer has been presented to the students.

Doc Moseley and Vito Parrilli, co-captains of the varsity football team, will speak at the rally, and other members of the varsity will perform. The freshman team and members of Sucky will both have skits.

Two Blazer Lectures Scheduled For November In Guignol Theater

Two Blazer Lectures have been scheduled for November. The first of these will be by Dr. Leo Strauss, professor of political philosophy at the University of Chicago, at 11 a.m. Monday in the Guignol Theater, Fine Arts Building. His topic will be "The Social Sciences at the Crossroads."

Dr. Strauss left his native Germany at the beginning of the Nazi regime and studied in France and later at Cambridge, England, under Ernest Barker.

Prior to his present professorship he was at the New School of Social Research in New York City.

He is the author of several books and articles, including a work on

"MISS CHRISTMAS SEAL" will be the title of one of these coeds at the conclusion of the annual Christmas sales which begin Monday. Candidates are Beth Deen, Jane Bartlett, Betty Baugh, Pat Patterson, Peggy Martin, Joy Fields, Shug Gregory, Janet Wood, Gloria Travis, Kitty Comer, and Joan Martin.

Religious Week Has Been Set For February

Religious Emphasis Week chairman and committees were announced at a meeting of the Interfaith Council at 12:30 p.m. Saturday at the College of the Bible.

Feb. 24-27 has been set as Religious Emphasis Week for the academic year. Any student interested in signing up for a particular committee may do so at the Y offices in the SUB. Since the committees are already beginning work on the project, the Council urges students to sign immediately.

Additional help is especially needed on the publicity, hospitality, seminar, and organized house committees. The hospitality committee is responsible for the guest speakers, and the seminar and organized house committees select topics to be discussed by the student groups and within the dormitories and fraternities.

Chairman of the Religious Emphasis Week committee is W. L. Matthews, professor of Law. Student co-chairmen are Pat Lancaster and Kurt Golttermann. Honorary chairman for the week is Dr. H. L. Donovan, and the Rev. Dan Thomas, student pastor of the Maxwell Street Presbyterian Church, is executive chairman.

According to Pat Lancaster, this year's Religious Emphasis Week takes on new importance in view of present-day confusion. In addition, she stresses the fact that it is an opportunity for students of all faiths to voice their questions and opinions with experienced youth leaders to guide them.

Speakers for the week have been selected by the University Christian Missions, a national organization contacted by the "Y". The association has chosen speakers from Protestant, Jewish, and Catholic religions.

Miss Lutz has a diploma in singing from the Institute of Musical Art, New York City, and a master's degree in singing from the Juilliard School of Music, New York City. She has also studied with Enza Serafini, opera and voice coach; and with Belle Soudant and Coennrad Bos. Bos has appeared here as accompanist for Helen Traubel.

Three selections by Mozart will open the recital: Ridente la calma, Un moto di gioia, and Alleluja. The second section includes Mausefallen-sprache and Verborgeneheit by Wolf and two Strauss numbers: Die Nacht and Mohnblumen.

For the third section, Miss Lutz will sing two arias from "La Boheme" by Puccini. The two excerpts are Donde lieta from act three and Quando me'n vo from act two.

Four art songs will be featured in

Phi Mu Alpha Concert To Feature Harpist

Proceeds To Aid In Scholarships For Musicians

Artists deVot, American harpist, will appear here on Nov. 28 as the featured soloist for a concert sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, men's honorary music fraternity. It will be held at 8:30 that evening in the SUB.

The proceeds of the concert will go towards providing a scholarship fund for deserving music students on the campus. Tickets will be $1.20, and will be sold at the Guignol Ticket Booth on Nov. 26, 27, and 28. They can also be bought at Shackleton's and from any member of the organization.

Miss deVot is not entirely new to Lexington, having appeared here in 1947 as a soloist on the Sunday Musicale Series. At that time she played to one of the largest crowds ever in Memorial Hall.

Miss deVot made her debut as a harpist at Boston while still a student at the Girls' Latin School. After graduating from the New England Conservatory, she continued her study of the harp in Vienna.

Concerto in C Major, K. 299, by Mozart, will be the first composition. Miss deVot, with Dr. Edwin Stein, flute, and Ford Montgomery, piano, will present the Concerto.

Warren Lutz, clarinetist; Gordon Kinney, Cellist; and Mary Carver Lutz, pianist, will play Trio in B flat by Beethoven.

Miss deVot, accompanied by Mr. Montgomery, will then play Danse Sacre et Danse Profane by Debussy and Introduction et Allegro by Ravel.

Mr. Montgomery will travel with Miss deVot to Chicago on Dec. 2 to play a concert there in Kimball Hall.

The third in a series of Sunday afternoon musicales will be presented at 4 p.m. Sunday in Memorial Hall. Miss Virginia Lutz, who joined the UK music faculty this year as voice instructor, will be the soloist.

Before coming to the University, Miss Lutz was assistant professor of voice at the Women's College of the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, N.C. She has previously given recitals in Pennsylvania and North Carolina.

Miss Lutz has a diploma in singing from the Institute of Musical Art, New York City, and a master's degree in singing from the Juilliard School of Music, New York City. She has also studied with Enza Serafini, opera and voice coach; and with Belle Soudant and Coennrad Bos. Bos has appeared here as accompanist for Helen Traubel.

Three selections by Mozart will open the recital: Ridente la calma, Un moto di gioia, and Alleluja. The second section includes Mausefallen-sprache and Verborgeneheit by Wolf and two Strauss numbers: Die Nacht and Mohnblumen.

For the third section, Miss Lutz will sing two arias from "La Boheme" by Puccini. The two excerpts are Donde lieta from act three and Quando me'n vo from act two.

Four art songs will be featured in with Alfred Holy, harpist of the Boston Symphony, the Berlin and Vienna Philharmonic Societies, and the Bayreuth Festivals.

Later she was named to the faculty of the Mozarteum Academy, Salzburg, Austria, where she taught, gave concerts, and appeared as soloist with the Mozarteum Orchestra.

Immediately after the war, she was reappointed and is once again, each summer, holding her classes in harp at the Mozarteum.

Assisting Miss deVot will be members of the Music Department faculty.

Concerto in C Major, K. 299, by Mozart, will be the first composition. Miss deVot, with Dr. Edwin Stein, flute, and Ford Montgomery, piano, will present the Concerto.

Warren Lutz, clarinetist; Gordon Kinney, Cellist; and Mary Carver Lutz, pianist, will play Trio in B flat by Beethoven.

Miss deVot, accompanied by Mr. Montgomery, will then play Danse Sacre et Danse Profane by Debussy and Introduction et Allegro by Ravel.

Mr. Montgomery will travel with Miss deVot to Chicago on Dec. 2 to play a concert there in Kimball Hall.

Miss Lutz Featured In Sunday Musicale

The fourth section of the program. The first three, Air Champetre, C, and La grace exilee, are by Poulenc; and the fourth, Recontre, is by Faure.

A single work, Nell by Faure, will be done for the fifth section.

To conclude the recital, Miss Lutz will do a group of six lyric songs. These will include A Nun Takes the Veil and Sure On This Shining Night by Barber, The Bird by John Duke, Maybe by Sergius Kagen, Tillie by Theodore Chanler, and The Buckle by Arthur Bliss.

Mr. Ford Montgomery, instructor in piano on the music faculty, will accompany Miss Lutz. Special ushers and guests for the recital will be the University Women's Glee Club.

Room Contest Ends Sunday

After two weeks of checking rooms, the House Presidents Council will award trophies Sunday to the winners of the annual room-judging contest.

Trophies will be awarded to the sorority house and the residence hall with the winning individual rooms. Trophies will also be awarded to the sorority house and the residence hall which present the best overall appearance.

Final judging will be Sunday afternoon, when the houses and residence units will be open from 2 to 4 p.m. Trophies which are awarded Sunday will be rewarded at the "Stars in the Night" program in the spring.

Kappa Delta was permanently awarded a cup for winning the best room contest for the third consecutive year. Other winners last year were Boyd Hall for the best room, and Hamilton House and Kappa Kappa Gamma for best overall houses.

Rooms will be judged this year for the best use of material available, good taste in selection of arrangement, convenience of arrangement, appropriateness for a college room, pleasing color scheme, and originality.

Legalized Man Hunt To End Tomorrow With Race, Dance

20 Li'l Abners, 17 Daisy Maes To Participate In Event At Game

By Dick Cherry

UK's legalized version of the man hunt climaxes tomorrow in the annual Sadie Hawkins' Day race and dance. All week the girls have had the initiative, but tomorrow they cease being coy and actually take to the field to track down their men.

Immediately before the football game at Stoll Field, 20 shackled Li'l Abners will be released to run for life, honor, and liberty. Just five seconds behind them will be 17 eager, hard running Daisy Maes.

Boundary for the race is the playing field, which doesn't give the men much of a chance to escape.

The first Daisy Mae to drag her man over the finish line will go through a mock wedding ceremony, complete with Marryin' Sam. She and the two girls who finish second and third will receive free tickets for the Sadie Hawkins dance.

37 To Compete In Race
Since there are 20 Li'l Abners and only 17 Daisy Maes, evidently three fortunate men will escape the fate worse than death.

The dance will be from 8 p.m. till 12 p.m. in the SUB Ballroom. Johnny Heaton's Blue and White orchestra will furnish the music. Tickets, which are $1 per head, are traditionally bought by the women. A turnip chompin' contest will be staged during intermission. Some type of prize will be awarded to the man who can eat the mostest the fastest.

Also during intermission, a typical Daisy Mae and Li'l Abner will be chosen. Half of the judging will be done by the chaperones and half by votes recorded on the back of ticket stubs by dance goers. The winning boy and girl will each be given two trophies. One trophy goes to their sponsoring organization and the other they get to keep.

Festivities Sponsored By Keys
Keys, sponsors of the festivities, has announced that proper dress for the whole day, including the football game and the dance, is Dog-patch high fashion. In addition to the Daisy Mae and Li'l Abner contest, a prize will be given to the best dressed couple chosen from the floor during the dance.

Candidates for the Daisy Mae trophy are Betty Ann Vick and Ricky Caldwell, Alpha Delta Pi; Jo Doris Hoover and Barbara Minty, Delta Delta Delta; Marilyn MacMillan and Pat Graham, Delta Zeta; Jimmy Rose Fouts and Harriet Allen, Kappa Delta; Freida Jones and Pat Dera, Kappa Alpha Theta; Carolyn Smith and Jacke Cottom, Alpha Gamma Delta; and Joyce Stephens and Margaret Elliot, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Claire Carlberg and Joan Behrens, Alpha Xi Delta; Betty Neblett and Marion McGuire, Zeta Tau Alpha; Hazelen Pace and Ann McDade, Chi Omega; Lynn Marshall and Tina Mouser, Patti Hall; Joyce Davis and Erika Gassmueller, Jewell Hall; Diane Arnsperger and Edwina Klaine, McDowell House; and Bobbie Rice, Dillard House.

Fraternities Enter Two Candidates
Jacqueline Hoover and Doris Mehan, Maxwell House; Lois Wilson and Lois Fritz, Boyd Hall; and Nancy Townsley, Lydia Brown.

The fraternities each have two candidates. The one listed first is the candidate for the Li'l Abner trophy and the one given second is entered in the Turnip Chompin' contest.

Entries for the men are Deward Johnson and Charles Perkins, Alpha Gamma Rho; Jack Colson and Will Moore, Alpha Tau Omega; Dave Perry and Sam Welch, Delta Chi; Chuck Harris and T. Y. Martin, Delta Tau Delta; Gene Neff and Ed Martin, Phi Kappa Tau; and Fred Wright and Lee Jones, Phi Sigma Kappa.

Bill Peci and Tom Catlett, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Carter Glass and Dave Ryan, Sigma Chi; Bill Green and Melvin Smith, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Al Lupinetti and Arthur Jacob, Tau Kappa Epsilon; Tom Prather and Ken Kelly, Pi Kappa Alpha; Stuart Yussman and Ned Fogler, Zeta Beta Tau; and Louis Beard and Doug Jones, Kappa Alpha.

Frank Tilton and Bill Dawson, Phi Delta Theta; Walt Hirsch and Hugh Barber, Sigma Nu; William Routh and Charles Urey, Alpha Sigma Phi; Bill Creel and Tom McReynolds, Triangle; Fred Molberger and Lou Dunn, Lambda Chi Alpha; and Buddy Fenwick and John Emmick, Kappa Sigma.

Next Kernel Nov. 30

There will be no Kernel next Friday because of the Thanksgiving holidays. The next Kernel will be published on Friday, Nov. 30.

Debate Team Wins Honors At Contest

The UK debate team split the decision with the University of Cincinnati at the Tau Kappa Alpha Ohio-Kentucky Regional Conference in Cincinnati last week.

Winning four out of eight rounds, the UK team went ahead to compile the highest team and individual scores in the contest.

Lester Wise, a freshman debater, compiled 42 out of a possible 50 points, and the team of Lester Wise and Ed Rue received 83 out of 100 points.

The subject for this year's debate is, Resolved: The Federal Government should adopt a permanent plan of price control.

As governor of this region, Dr. Gifford Byrton of the UK English Department presided over the conference.

The group voted to return to Cincinnati for their 1952 meeting.

The next debate scheduled for the UK team is with Centre College in Danville sometime before Christmas.

Block And Bridle Fall Festival Begins At Pavilion Tonight

The annual Fall Festival, sponsored by Block and Bridle, animal husbandry professional society, will begin at 7 o'clock Friday night in the UK Stock Pavilion. Feature of the event is the crowning of the Festival's king and queen.

Booth exhibits with appropriate themes, concession stands, guessing contests, corn husking contests for the faculty, and stunts by the Block and Bridle pledges will lead off the activities.

Ringmaster Ward Crowe will present a showmanship and fitting contest by members of various classes in beef, pork, and sheep. The famous wethers (sheep) of Herdman Harold Barber will be shown just as they will be later at the National Livestock Exposition in Chicago.

Winners of a drawing will be awarded door prizes. The poultry club will give a turkey to the person holding the duplicate to one of the chances sold by the club.

Candidates for queen are Mary Black, Martha Townsend, Pat Lancaster, Fayette Elswick, June Robinson, and Sue Hobgood. Candidates for king are Bruce Pierce, Tony Cocanougher, Dale Stahl, Henry Meyer, and C. D. Lucas.

Besides Block and Bridle, the National Animal Husbandry Group also is sponsoring the event in cooperation with the Dairy, Poultry, Horticulture, 4-H, and Home Economics Clubs. Alpha Zeta, men's agriculture honorary, and Phi Upsilon Omicron, women's home economics honorary.

What About This 'Conflict' Between Suky And The Band?

Recent weeks have seen several letters in "The Students Speak" column complaining about the lack of cooperation between the band and Suky. This week an unusual thing happened: we received a letter proposing a solution to the problem.

The substance of the solution is this: Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity will set up a five member council. This council will consist of a band representative, a Suky representative, a campus problems and affairs committeeman, a cheerleader, and an Alpha Phi Omega member who will act as coordinator. The council will work to promote cooperation between the organizations.

We see no reason why Suky and the band should not give the council a trial.

However, we believe that the whole problem has been distorted out of all proportion by students. We witnessed the Miami game from the non-student side of the field and were amazed at the coordination between the band and the card section. After reading letter writers' comments for several weeks we had expected the two groups to be vying for the attention of the audience. Actually they complemented each other very well most of the time.

The cooperation and organization could be improved, of course, and the council idea might be a great help in this respect, but students, who are unable to see the card section, should not feel that the two groups are feuding for the attention of the spectators.

Obviously many students have already gotten the idea that there is dissension and lack of cooperation between Suky and the band and it is mainly for this reason that we advocate the Alpha Phi Omega council proposal. Probably this manifestation of cooperation would help the public relations of both organizations.

University Is Failing In Respect To Number Of Beauty Queens

For years now we have noticed one thing that the University needs — more beauty queens. Without the remedying of this situation we do not feel that the University can ever really be a great University.

Take this week for instance, only four beauty queen contests have come to our attention. This can only lead to one thing: some UK coeds will be graduated without even one title to their names. How can these poor maidens take their rightful place in society with a stigma like this on their reputations. The answer is obvious, they cannot. They are destined to be social outcasts, scorned by graduates of more progressive institutions, and shunned by all self respecting, educated males.

The really disheartening aspect of this situation is that it could be remedied so easily. It has come to our attention that certain organizations do not select even a single queen a year. How they can be tolerated by the student body is more than we can see. Obviously they are not even aware of the basic function of University organizations. If SGA refuses to take action to have their charters removed, we recommend that students take matters into their own hands and ostracize members of these non-cooperating groups. It is just such dead-timber that prevents UK from taking its rightful place among the great institutions of higher learning.

Ideas for queen titles present no problem. Take, for example, the present title "Miss TB Seal." Working from this we can easily visualize "Miss Chronic Lumbago," "Miss Arterial Thrombosis" or perhaps a "Miss Astigmatic." That such obvious opportunities could be missed by wide-awake campus organizations is unthinkable.

The only answer is that they are not giving this serious problem the proper amount of thought. We appeal to UK students to act immediately before the administration is forced to take matters into its own hands.

The Students Speak: Suky-Band Dispute Draws Letters, Proposed Solution

Dear Editor:

A letter in last week's Kernel told how the band spends many hours practicing in all types of weather to work up their half-time show and this is true. Suky members also spend many hours daily working on the card section and cheers. Because of their recent disputes, however, these two organizations are failing to make the contribution to the school spirit which their efforts deserve. Their ever-growing rivalry stands in the way of the spirit we might have at UK.

The pledges and members of Alpha Phi Omega have discussed this situation and are proposing the following solution. Alpha Phi Omega will set a council which will have five members and will be called the Blue and White Council. Its membership will consist of a representative from the band, a representative from Suky, a campus problems and affairs committee-man, a cheerleader, and a coordinator from Alpha Phi Omega.

The purpose of this council will be to promote understanding, goodwill, and cooperation between Suky, the band, and the student body.

As an immediate goal the Blue and White Council will try to promote cheers that all will participate in for the Tennessee game. It should be possible to work up yells in which the band and the cheering section work together in filling up the time out.

Alpha Phi Omega's permanent program will continue with cooperation and new ideas for the basketball games. We feel that this council is a practical opportunity to help achieve a school spirit of which every student will be proud.

Answers Letter By Andrew Wallace

Dear Editor:

To Mr. Andrew Wallace Jr., who apparently isn't in the know, I dedicate this article.

To take first things first, Mr. W. Jr., you are either a band member or way out of step. My guess is that you are out of step. Why? Because I am not a member of the Band or Suky and after reading your small bit of propaganda, I felt that just weren't that way. So I went around and inquired from various sources as to the validity of your article. Results? You're all wet!

The Band and Suky have had a discussion regarding the half time show at football games and have arrived at a satisfactory decision. As for Suky complaining about going to Florida, all the members I asked seemed so pleased to have had the opportunity to go that the small compensation that was paid seemed insignificant. Don't leave yet, Mr. W. Jr., I have my opinion to express now. Your last statement about the Band being kept active after football season is a great idea, but I don't believe you'll find that Mr. Lutz ever considered a remote possibility of disorganizing. Secondly, I don't think it is up to the Band to sponsor pep-rallies and parades with cheerleaders and Suky cooperating. I think you'll find it much more convenient and appropriate if the cheerleaders continued to lead these pep rallies with Suky backing AND then the Band cooperating. This I have found out is the way it has been done in the past and this, despite your non-revealing article last week, is the way I'm sure it will stay.

So in the future Mr. W. Jr. please back your statements to the limit before submitting them to the public.

An Irate Student

Card Section Views Presented By Alum

Dear Editor:

I am not a student of the University, but I read your weekly newspaper regularly and I was wondering if it would be possible to have an outsider's viewpoint printed?

I realize that this is a student publication, but maybe they would be interested in an outsider's opinion from the other side of the football field. If at all possible I would like to express, not only mine, but many others' opinions on the Band and Card Section. So, if it can be arranged, I would appreciate it much. Thanks.

To all band members who practice long hours in the freezing cold, I wish to express my deepest sympathy. You see, Band, last week a sympathizer of yours wrote condemning the Card Section. This week I would like to ask this misguided person to look at the other side of the picture.

I agree with you, Sympathizer, that the Marching 100 looks good on the field, and I realize that you operate under adverse conditions, but have you ever sat on the other side of the field and watched the card section? It's great, too! To you it may be a jumble of colored cards with warm coats on, but to thousands of spectators on the other side of the field it looks like a well organized and carefully maneuvered operation on the part of the students and Suky.

This display of color during the half did not hinder my enjoying the band one bit, in fact, most of their tricks were along the same order as the band's formation and added to their performance.

I was also wondering, Sympathizer, if you had ever considered who collects the cards before and after the games in the same kind of weather that the band marches in? Who makes the designs and prints the sheets the students use during the card section? And have you ever realized that NO paid full time instructor is in charge of those students? It is my understanding that students run this entirely on their own. (Correct me if I'm wrong, Editor.) So may I congratulate you students in the card section and hope that this obviously jealous student's viewpoint won't dampen your spirits on future card section work.

Dean Comments On Proficiencies

Dear Editor:

If other readers enjoy as much as I do the column "The Students Speak," some of them may be misled by a letter signed "A & S Senior" in the Nov. 9 issue.

1. For the B.S. or A.B. degrees "six hours of a foreign language" are not required. (See page 8 of Schedule of Classes.)

2. The B.S. in Medical Technology and all but one sequence of the B.M. require six hours of foreign language; but no basic achievement test in foreign language is required for these degrees.

3. The B.S. in Industrial Chemistry requires twelve credits in German and one year of French is recommended.

4. "The basic achievement test in foreign language has nothing to do with credit in foreign language."

(1) If a student passes this test, without taking any foreign language, he has satisfied the lower division requirement in foreign language. Quite a few do pass it on the basis of knowledge acquired in high school. In 1949, seven entering freshmen from Paris High School passed the examination in French. As far as I can remember, this is the largest number of entering students from any one high school passing the test at one time.

(2) A student conceivably could have twenty-one credits or more in foreign language and still be unable to pass the test. A student must make a score roughly equivalent to what the average liberal arts student in the United States makes after one year of college instruction in foreign language.

5. A student may graduate from the College of Arts and Sciences without taking the basic achievement examination. According to the language requirement, he has his choice of passing the basic achievement examination or the second year of a language with C grades or better.

6. As far as I know, no other college in the University has ever required such tests; nor do I know of any other college of the University which has as one of its aims "an acquaintanceship with the main fields of intellectual interest." (Page 47, General Catalog.)

Verbose Epistle Enfilades Kernel

Dear Editor:

Being a person of peripatetic inclination, I have traveled for many years over the face of the globe remarking the multitudinous oddities and curiosities which present themselves to the intense observer.

I have especially noted journalistic efforts the world over. I have perused the world's smallest daily newspaper, printed in Pakistan on ungummed postage stamps; I have handled with horror the weekly communication of the savage Sulties of Greece, which is engraved on human skin; I have skimmed, with admittedly lecherous enjoyment, ribald stories imprinted in France on the reverse side of aphrodisiac labels, but never in all my nomadic existence have I seen a newspaper which more deserves than The Kentucky Kernel the prerogative of being issued upon Great Northern Toilet Tissue Paper.

Very sincerely yours,
Joseph Addison

Council States Stand On Budget Reduction

Dear Editor:

The recent publicity regarding the budget of the House Presidents' Council and the reduction thereof by SGA, makes it important that we, as an organization representing all resident women students, inform the student body of our position.

This year the House Presidents' Council asked SGA for an appropriation of $450, of which $200 would be for a Vocational Conference. This $200 was denied on the grounds that the Council had $200 left from the appropriation of the year before when the conference was not held. This conference was postponed purposely in order to put on a truly effective vocational program, whether in the form of a conference or a counseling service. Past years have shown that $200 is insufficient to conduct a conference of lasting value. Therefore, the hope was that by saving last year's money for the 1952 program, guidance of great value could be given to the students. That this counseling is needed was shown by freshmen girls who rated the choice of a career as one of their greatest problems.

We, as fellow members of the Student Government Association, realize that, due to the decreased enrollment, it was necessary to cut the appropriations to many major campus organizations. However, we feel that proper planning on the part of the Assembly would enable the House Presidents' Council and other organizations to set up their budgets a semester in advance with assurance that their plans could be carried out. We hope that the Assembly will understand this and act accordingly in the spring.

Sincerely,
The House Presidents' Council

Writes Concerning Early Kernel History

Dear Editor:

I have just read the article in this week's Kernel by Phil Blumenthal in which he gives some bits of information about the beginning of the first permanent college newspaper at the University.

"The Idea" was the first paper to persist, and its name was later changed to the "Kernel." This paper was started in 1908 as a private enterprise. The co-editors were W. G. Clugston, '10, Ben Stout, '09; and Perry Cassidy, '11, was business manager. My impression is that the paper was not too profitable as a private undertaking, so after publishing it for about a year it was turned over to the student body. I recall that I, as president of the senior class, presided at the old chapel to adopt a plan for the control of the paper by the students. The faculty had nothing to do with it at that time.

W. G. Clugston was the spark-plug editorially. He was a natural newspaperman. Perry Cassidy was a local boy who scraped up enough ads to pay the printing bills. Ben Stout also put a strong shoulder behind the paper.

I would suggest that if you would like to get a real authentic story about the beginning of the college paper that you write to Clugston.

I believe he would be glad to write something for you that would be interesting to publish. I think it worth noting that the first editor of the paper has achieved such outstanding success in the field of journalism.

Very sincerely,

R. A. Edwards

Suggest That Flags Be Used On Stadium

Dear Editor:

In the interest of the University of Kentucky we have a suggestion. How about having flags around the top of the football stadium, as many colleges do? We feel that it would be very much in the interest of the school to have the U.S. Flag, United Nations Flag, Confederate Flag, and the flags of the various schools in the Southeastern Conference. We feel that this would be a great addition to the stadium.

Females Better Nab Their Men Before Sadie Hawkins Week Ends

By Emily Campbell

Have you caught your man yet gals? If not, you had better hurry because Sadie Hawkins week is coming to a quick close. The race tomorrow before the game will be a good chance for all females who haven't nabbed a man to get into the swing of things and get themselves a date for the big Sadie Hawkins dance in the Ballroom of the SUB, Saturday night.

Phones in the fraternity houses, men's dorm, and barracks have been ringing like mad this week as the by, social chairman; and Barbara their favorite man for a date. It sure does make you realize just how much money boys have to spend for dates.

Congratulations to Barbara Musser, Alpha Delta Pi, who was selected as the 1951 Kentuckian Beauty Queen. This year the attendants were not announced or rated in order as has been customary in previous years.

Pi Kaps Initiate Two

Recently elected officers of Pi Kappa Alpha are: Charles Campbell, president; Don Wilson, vice president; Jim Anderson, secretary; and Tom Prather, treasurer. New initiates are Charles Bassett and Bill Hoffman.

The Kappa Alphas will formally dedicate their new house at a banquet to be held at the Lafayette Hotel tomorrow night. Howard P. Locke, Knight Commander of the Kappa Alpha Order, will be the principal speaker. Tommy Clore, president, will act as toastmaster. Alumni, members of the Order throughout the state, their wives, and dates have been invited.

Alpha Delta Pi pledges gave a party Tuesday afternoon for the pledges of all other sororities. Phyllis Hart, president of the pledge class, was in charge of the party. Tonight the sorority is giving a Dogpatch house party for the girls and their dates.

Candidates for the "Miss Christmas Seal" contest are:

Beth Deen, Alpha Xi Delta; Jane Bartlett, Kappa Alpha Theta; Pat Patterson, Kappa Delta; Joy Fields, Boyd Hall; Janet Wood, Chi Omega; Kitty Comer, Maxwellton Court; Joan Martin, Kappa Kappa Gamma;

Betty Baugh, Dillard House; Peggy Martin, Delta Zeta; Shug Gregory, Jewell Hall; Gloria Travis, Tau Alpha Pi; Ann Grillot, Alpha Gamma Delta; Jo Doris Hoover, Delta Delta Delta; Betty Jane Webb, Zeta Tau Alpha; and Barbara Leet, Alpha Delta Pi.

This contest is sponsored by the Lexington and Fayette County Tuberculosis Association, and votes are through each dollar's worth of Christmas seals purchased.

Pershing Rifle Candidates Listed
Pershing Rifles will choose a sponsor from one of the following candidates:

National Examinations For Teachers To Be Held At University In February

The University has been designated as a testing center for the 1952 nationwide administration of the National Teacher Examinations next February. Dr. Lysle W. Croft, Director of Personnel, announced this week.

All graduate students in the College of Education are required to take the National Teacher Examinations, but should consult their advisors with regard to the advisability of taking the examinations in February or postponing them until a later date.

College seniors preparing to teach and teachers applying for positions in school systems which encourage or require applicants to submit their scores on the National Teacher Examinations along with their other credentials are also eligible to take the tests. The examinations are prepared and administered annually by Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey.

The designation of UK as a testing center for these examinations will give prospective teachers in this area an opportunity to compare their performance on the examinations with approximately 10,000 candidates throughout the country who will be participating in the nation-wide administration on Feb. 16, 1952, Dr. Croft said.

At the one-day testing session a candidate may take the Common Examinations, which include tests in professional information, general culture, English expression, and non-verbal reasoning. In addition, each candidate may take one or two of the nine optional examinations which are designed to demonstrate mastery of subject matter in the fields in which he may be assigned to teach.

Applications for the examinations and a bulletin of information describing registration procedures and containing sample test questions may be obtained from the Personnel Office or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, P.O. Box 592.

100 To Participate In Cheerleading Clinic

The first annual Cheerleaders Clinic will be held Saturday on the UK campus. Approximately 100 high school cheerleaders are expected to register at 9 a.m. in the lobby of the Coliseum.

Bernie Shively, UK athletic director, will welcome the cheerleaders and lead off the morning program, which consists of a panel discussion. H. M. Caldwell, state secretary of the YMCA of Kentucky, will be the chairman.

"Why Do We Cheer?" will be the topic of Dave Bere, president of Suky, followed by a discussion of "How the Cheerleader Builds Morale in the Players" by Frank Ramsey, member of the UK basketball squad. Miss Stella Gibb, of the UK Physical Education department will tell "How the Cheerleader Builds Good Sportsmanship in Spectators" and Ted Applegate, principal of Vanceburg High School, will conclude the panel with "The Cheerleader as a Representative of the School."

Following this program, the group will be led in cheering by the UK cheerleaders. Lunch will be served to them in the Football Room of the cafeteria.

The high school cheerleaders will give a group cheer during the Kentucky-George Washington game in the afternoon.

This clinic is being sponsored by the State YMCA in conjunction with the Athletic Department, Suky, and the UK YM-YWCA.

Nineteenth Century Masters On Display

Original paintings by famous nineteenth century masters will be on display in the art gallery of the Fine Arts Building starting Sunday and lasting through Dec. 5.

The exhibition, which will consist of 17 paintings by masters of the old Barbizon School of France, will include such painters as Corot, Dougnay, Breton, and Rousseau. All of these paintings were done during the later half of the nineteenth century and the department obtained the display for tury.

Myers, assistant superintendent of buildings and grounds, University of Louisville.

Other guest speakers included A. P. Nestor, purchasing agent, Berea College, and Arch Bennett, business

New J-Building May Be Named For Grehan

President H. L. Donovan will recommend to the Board of Trustees at their next regular meeting that the new Journalism Building be named for the late Enoch Grehan, founder of the Department of Journalism.

Copies of the special journalism dedication edition of the Kernel and the banquet program are being mailed to Journalism alumni who could not attend the dedication ceremonies. Schools and Departments of Journalism all over the United States will also receive this material.

Approximately 500 journalism graduates and Kentucky newspapermen attended the dedication banquet November 2. Don Whitehead, AP war correspondent and Pulitzer Prize winner, was guest speaker. He was introduced by former Governor Keen Johnson. Senator Thomas R. Underwood, editor of the Lexington Herald, was the toastmaster. All were former journalism majors and Kernel staff members.

Dr. Donovan accepted a master key to the Journalism Building for the University and the Commonwealth of Kentucky. It was presented by James Shropshire, former member of the Kernel staff, who represented journalism students of the past and present.

Alumni News THEN and NOW

1930 Frank D. Scott is principal of the Fleming County schools.

Mr. Scott has had thirty years experience in the education field.

1939 Graham Wilkins of Marshall County assumed his new duties as county agent of Webster County last fall. He is making his home in Dixon with his wife and two children.

Since his graduation from the University he had been employed by the University Extension Service in Marshall County. He was connected with the T.V.A. Test Demonstration program there, under the direction of the county agent's office.

An officer in the U. S. Army during World War II, Mr. Wilkins served three and one-half years, spending more than a year of that time in Australia.

Leroy G. Dorsey, dean of Pikeville Junior College until last summer, left that position last August to become principal of the Flemingsburg elementary schools.

Mr. Dorsey had been dean of Pikeville Junior College for the past seven years and also has taught education and mathematics in the college and in the Pikeville College Academy.

Mr. Dorsey taught English, social studies, and mathematics for six years at Lewis County High School. Mrs. Dorsey, the former Gladys Fisher, '30, and their three children moved to the Dorsey family farm in Flemingsburg about Sept. 1.

1943

Juliette Bryson, formerly of Ashland, Ky., and Dearborn, Mich., and an active member of the Alumni Association and the Detroit club, is attending the University of Illinois this year doing graduate work.

1946

Joe Sabel, former Versailles, Ky., High School principal, assumed his duties as principal of Bourbon County Vocational High School this fall.

A native of Scott County, Mr. Sabel attended Transylvania College and received his M.A. degree from the University.

Joe L. Lawson, Jr., B.A. '46, M.A. '47, of Williamsburg, received his Ph.D. degree in psychology from the University last August.

Dr. Lawson is employed as clinical psychologist by the Veterans Administration Hospital, Louisville, and is an assistant in medical psychology at the University of Louisville School of Medicine.

Fred G. Tucker Jr. of Louisville has been promoted to the rank of sergeant at Ft. Jackson, S. C., where he is assigned to Company A, 13th Infantry, of the famed 8th Division, while awaiting orders to Officers' Candidate School.

A graduate of duPont High School in Louisville, Sgt. Tucker received his B.A. degree from the University in 1950 and was inducted in October of that year.

With Former University Students Clarence W. "Doc" Cobb, of Williamstown, a former University student, has been promoted to special agent of the New York Life Insurance Co. with headquarters in Cynthiana.

Mr. Cobb, with his wife, the former Edna Earl Griggs, '33, and their two children, moved from Dry Ridge to Cynthiana last August.

William A. Caudill of West Liberty, former University student and operator of a store at Cannel City, Ky., many years ago, is now a manufacturing chemist in Miami, Fla.

He operated Graham Springs Sulphur Hydrotherapy Sanitarium at Harrodsburg, Ky., from 1935 to 1945. He plans to establish a laboratory in Florida.

Smith, Lowery To Represent University In Regional Moot Court Elimination Series

Two law students have been named to represent UK in the regional moot court elimination series in St. Louis on Nov. 29. Acting Dean William L. Matthews of the College of Law said this week.

Robert Hall Smith and Jack Lowery Jr. were selected as representatives after winning the finals of the annual UK moot court tournament which was held before the Kentucky Court of Appeals on Nov. 9.

In announcing the decision, Chief Justice James W. Cammack of the Court of Appeals said it was the best oral argument that the court had heard this fall. Mr. Matthews said.

A total of eight law teams from law schools in Kansas, Missouri, Tennessee, and Kentucky will compete in the regionals in St. Louis. Mr. Matthews said.

At the regionals the UK team will

Education Week Is Commemorated In Taylor Building

National Education Week was commemorated by a general convocation of the College of Education held Wednesday morning in the auditorium of the Taylor Education Building.

The meeting, under the direction of the Future Teachers of America, was addressed by Dean Frank G. Dickey of the College of Education and Dr. Lyman V. Ginger, director of the University School.

Miss Phyllis Dean, student in the College of Education, sang two songs, and Miss Gertrude Maddox, also an education major, played clarinet selections. A boys' quartet from Lexington Junior High School also appeared on the program.

THE MEETING'S UPSTAIRS

What happens to a high-flying enemy bomber when it meets the newest anti-aircraft guided missile shouldn't happen to a low-flying duck. Radar "eyes" and electronic "brains" make sure the meeting takes place. They guide the pilotless missile to within lethal range of the plane, then explode it.

This teaming of intricate tracking and computing devices was made possible by teaming of another sort. The electronic control system was developed for Army Ordnance by the Bell Telephone Laboratories and the Western Electric Company, close-working research and manufacturing units of the Bell System.

It's just one of the many important military projects being entrusted to the Bell System.

Kansas Tilt Canceled Three 'B' Games Set

By Earl Cox

The long-awaited return meeting between All-Americans Bill Spivey and Kansas' Clyde Lovellette will not come off, because the game tentatively scheduled with Kansas Dec. 22 has been cancelled.

What Kentucky cage fan will ever forget: the sterling performance of Spivey last year against the big Jayhawk center? "Grits" was magnificent as he played rings around his rival, out rebounding and out scoring him. The Wildcats caught fire with Spivey and went on to defeat Coach Adolph Rupp's alma mater, 68-39.

Kansas supporters refused to admit Spivey's superiority and this season's contest was to have been a "get even" game.

A three-game "B" team schedule has been released for the Kittens. All three are to start at 6:30 p.m. and will be played as preliminaries to varsity tilts. The Kittens open the same date as the varsity, Dec. 8, when they meet Fort Knox. Humsey Yassin brings his Georgetown subs in Dec. 17, and Centre's "B" team will furnish the opposition Dec. 20.

If they continue to look good the Cats may get a Thanksgiving vacation, but if they don't, they will eat their turkey right here in Lexington. "We'll give them one day off regardless," said Assistant Coach Harry Lancaster.

Two Fayette County boys are trying out for berths on the freshman team. They are Lafayette's Brown Sharpe and Athens' Neale Cosby. Sharpe played on Lafayette's state champions year before.

Gather your kisses while you may. For time brings only sorrow. The girls who are so free today. Are the chaperones tomorrow.

last and attended a prep school last year. Coach Rupp has listed him on the varsity roster.

If you would like to purchase season basketball tickets, you have until Nov. 26 to do so. There are 900 good seats left. Cost of a season book is $24.

Two thousand bleacher tickets are left and are selling at $15. After Nov. 26 only single game tickets will be available.

UK Runners Defeat Berea College 23-34

Dwight Price and Al Wiley finished first and second in a cross country race at Berea College to give the UK runners their second straight triumph. The score was 23-34.

Price ran the tough three-mile course in 17:17. Wiley came in at 17:23. Jim Colvard of Berea finished third in 17:44.

Runner-coach Jay Wallace was particularly pleased with the showing of his group. He described the course as "plenty rough, but a good course." Several fences were included on the route.

Wallace said the University's participation in cross-country was an outgrowth of the track team's desire to condition. He suggested the men begin running in the fall and when such a large group responded they decided to field a team. Wallace said the members are having a good time as well as winning matches.

Tomorrow Marshall College of Huntington, W. Va., will supply the opposition for UK's third match. The race will be run over the three-mile Piccadome Golf Course route.

Wallace plans to enter three five-man teams against the Thundering Herd runners.

Cats May Have Already Beaten 'Jinx'; Svitchan Is Proud He Is Svitchan; Tech's Acceptance May Help Kentucky

There will be no Kernel next week and we can't pass up giving our ideas on the game all Kentucky has been waiting for—the Tennessee clash next week. So, a week in advance, here goes.

The Volunteers will bring to town what some people believe is the greatest team in the history of the Knoxville school. Halfback Hank Lauricella is considered one of the best backs ever produced by General Bob Neyland. They will also bring the thing Kentucky fans fear most—"the Jinx."

It was in 1935 that the Wildcats last beat a Tennessee team. A Kentucky team has never beaten a team coached by Gen. Neyland. (Neyland was on leave of absence in '35). Neyland has boasted Kentucky will never beat him. And there's not a person between the top of Clingman's Dome and the Mississippi River who believes the General will let him down.

On the other hand, Kentucky has had one of the poorest won-lost seasons since Coach Bryant took over in 1946. Three early season defeats dropped the Wildcats out of national contention but four very impressive wins have moved them to ninth place in the latest AP poll. Against Miami and Tulane, the Cats have looked unbeatable.

There will be few persons at Stoll Field next week who will firmly believe the Cats have a chance of winning. We admit Neyland is tough to beat any time, but let us suggest Kentucky beat "the Jinx" last New Year's Day when the No. 1 team in the nation, Oklahoma, was defeated 13-7.

The Wildcats proved it isn't impossible to beat the best team in the country. Maybe they will beat "the Jinx." "The Jinx" and General Bob Neyland are one and the same.

The trip to Nashville with the freshman football team will not be forgotten by George Svitchan, student manager. Leaving the bus station, where he had been on an errand for Coach J. D. Langley, Svitchan cut across an empty lot on his way back to the hotel. All at once police whistles began screaming and four policemen converged on him, pistols ready. Svitchan said he almost touched stars getting his hands into the air.

The policemen, on the alert due to information received that the man who killed two policemen in Tennessee last week was returning to Nashville from Somerset, the place where he had last been seen, mistook Svitchan for the wanted man. After a closer look the officers realized their mistake and apologized. Svitchan, though, wanted to be sure there was no further suspicion and produced papers proving his identity.

When asked if he was scared, Svitchan replied, "What would you have been if four policemen had you surrounded with guns in their hands?" It's no wonder "Svitch" has acquired a phobia concerning bus stations, vacant lots, or policemen—with guns.

Georgia Tech's acceptance of a bid to participate in the Orange Bowl game may well prove to be a boon to Kentucky's bowl chances. When the Orange Bowl committee offered the chance to the Engineers at such an early date, it proved they were a little leary of waiting until the end of the season to select teams. They decided in order to get top flight teams they would have to line them up early. And Georgia Tech didn't accept just because Coach Bobby Dodd likes to fish off the Miami coast.

Most forecasters believed Tech was slated for a Cotton Bowl bid. Tennessee, it seems likely, will appear in one of the post season classics. Maryland looks like a good bet for another spot. But with Tech already obligated to the Miami extravaganza, the Sugar and Cotton Bowls will have to look elsewhere for name teams with drawing power. No team in the nation has looked so impressive as Kentucky in the last four games.

The Wildcats are held in high esteem in New Orleans. Texans couldn't understand how any team with the potentialities of Kentucky could lose a game. These factors weigh heavily when selection time comes.

Had the Orange Committee selected their first team from a conference other than the SEC, it would not seem likely they would pick the team from that conference. The best overall records in the SEC are owned by Tech and Tennessee. Tech's acceptance, then, opens the door for a Kentucky bid. Had Tech been overlooked in favor of a team with a less impressive record, there would have been hurt feelings and arguments.

With Tech already in, Kentucky with a mediocre won-lost record, but with a team which has steadily gained prestige since three straight losses in early season, is available.

WHAS To Present Leadership Award

WHAS and WHAS-TV will present the second annual Leadership Award to an outstanding University of Kentucky senior football player at the close of the 1951 football season. The award will recognize some Wildcat gridders for character, leadership on the field, scholarship, and all-around value to his team.

Last year the first Leadership Award was presented to Wilbur "Shorty" Jamerson, star halfback and co-captain of the 1950 Southeastern Conference champions. Jamerson received an engraved silver tray with four silver water goblets.

The 1951 award will be made during the films of the Kentucky-Tennessee game Sunday, Nov. 25, the last in the WHAS-TV series of the 1951 Wildcat football games. Coach Paul Bryant and WHAS Sportscaster Phil Sutterfield provide commentary on the 60-minute program seen each Sunday at 4:00 p.m.

Opponents Feature A Single Wing Attack Intended To Prepare UK For 'Big Game'

By Rowland Krapf

"The eyes of Texas are upon you" may well be the theme tomorrow on Stoll Field as Kentucky's Wildcats, rated ninth in the nation, entertain George Washington University before tangling with their traditional downfall, Tennessee, the 24th.

With berths yet to be filled in the Cotton bowl, these contests may decide if the Cats will be taking a trip to Texas New Year's day or spend the holidays at home.

Reports drifting in from Dallas indicate that both Tennessee and Kentucky are being considered for the Cotton Bowl and that a win over the Volunteers may give the Cats the nod.

The Cats, who were breathing hot last Saturday in New Orleans when they trounced Tulane 37-0, will get their first shot at a single wing formation this season in preparation for Tennessee when they tackle George Washington.

Bo Rowland's outfit, which has had a rather poor season to date, will bring along a very good defensive line as well as one of the best backs in the Southern Conference.

The back, Andy Davis, has racked up 364.5 yards rushing in three years of varsity ball and stopping him may give Kentucky valuable experience in stopping Tennessee's Hank Lauricella.

Davis is a very good break-a-way runner and plays defensive line backer when not carrying the ball for the Colonials.

George Washington won 2, lost 4. George Washington has tasted victory only twice this season while being downed four times and tying one. The Colonials grabbed one of their two wins last Saturday when they defeated South Carolina, 20-14.

With George Washington's poor record, the Cats will probably rate the nod over the Colonials, but next week will be a different story when the Cats meet Tennessee.

Coach Neyland will bring one of the most highly rated teams in the nation to Stoll Field in quest of another habitual victory over the Cats. With the squad will be such standouts as backs Hank Lauricella, Andy Kozar, Dick Ernsberger, All-American tackle Ted Daffer, and end Doug Adkins.

Many cold and weary Kentuckians will remember Bert Rechichar from last year when he snagged a 29-yard Lauricella pass to score Tennessee's game winning touchdown and hand Kentucky its lone defeat.

Tennessee got off to a slow start this year in everything but the ratings when they managed only a 14-0 win over Mississippi State. The Cats slatted the Maroons all over Stoll Field a few weeks later in racking up a win that put them back on their feet after three straight losses. Since then, both Tennessee and Kentucky have been running up impressive wins in preparation for their traditional meet next week.

Coach Neyland has been prepping his boys for the coming tilt with Kentucky in hopes of knocking off these highly touted Cats of Coach Bryant. Knowing that there is more than one way of skinning a cat, he has been resorting to the old trick of instilling over confidence in Kentucky.

Although Tennessee has been rated the number one team in the nation four times this season, Neyland claims that his crew does not deserve such ratings and that Kentucky will beat Tennessee this year. To do this feat, Kentucky's defensive platoon will be called on to do one of its greatest jobs of the year in stopping Lauricella, one of the few remaining triple threat players left in college ball. Lauricella can either beat you by running, or passing as Kentucky well knows.

In crushing Washington and Lee 60-14 last week, the Volunteers racked up 24 first downs and gained 513 yards by rushing, Lauricella getting 114 of these. This in comparison to only 40 yards through the air well proves that the Volunteers have a powerful ground attack, possibly one of the best the Cats will face this year.

One happy note about the contest for Cat-followers was the way the vaunted Tennessee pass defense was man-handled by Washington and Lee.

When Washington and Lee found they could not gain on the ground against the stubborn Vol line, little G. I. Boccetti began flipping and connected on six tosses for 97 yards, two going to Thomas for TD's.

The Volunteers will take a 17 game winning streak against Johnny Vaught's Ole Miss team tomorrow in preparation for its meeting with Kentucky.

Vols Beat Mississippi
Ole Miss defeated Kentucky 21-17

Three UK Players Blue-Gray Choices

Babe Parilli, Doug Moseley, and Jim Mackenzie have accepted invitations to play in the annual Blue-Gray football game. The game will be played Dec. 29 at Montgomery, Ala.

The three Kentucky players were the first to be named to either roster. The teams are composed of players whose schools are separated by the Mason-Dixon Line.

The participation of the Kentucky stars undoubtedly hinges on whether or not the Wildcats are selected for one of the bowl games to be played Jan. 1.

earlier in the season scoring two touchdowns in a matter of minutes in the fourth quarter, but they are expected to fall before the Tennessee onslaught.

According to most observers, a Tennessee victory would not mean that the Vols were going to walk over the Cats. Many point out that Bryant was still in the process of experimenting with his team at this stage, and that now he has a defensive line that is one of the best in the nation.

Many of these same observers will point out, however, that Tennessee has more depth than any other major college team in the nation and that they are both dangerous in the air as well as on the ground.

Coach Neyland has long been an ardent follower of the single wing offense and his hard driving brand of football. Perhaps his favorite pass defense is his rushing of the passer.

With the "Babe" being one of the best performers under pressure, the Volunteers may find the "arm" too much for them. If Parilli can spot his receivers in the clear, Kentucky may be on its way to its first win over a Bob Neyland coached team.

Coach Paul Dietzel's Activities Include Scouting Of Tennessee

Paul Dietzel, a former Miami University (Ohio) Little All-American performer, joined the University of Kentucky coaching staff in February of this year. He left the University of Cincinnati to take the position here at UK.

He is a native of Mansfield, Ohio where he played high school ball for Mansfield High School. He holds letters in football, basketball, and track and was chosen All-State in football and basketball in his senior year while attending that institution.

After graduation ceremonies in 1942 he entered Duke University and played on the freshman football team. The Army Air Force expansion program appealed to Coach Dietzel and he joined that outfit in 1943. After finishing his basic training, he went on to finishing school and received his wings as a B-29 pilot.

The South Pacific was a beehive of activity about this time and Paul was one of the members of a group that was shipped out to this theater. While in the Pacific he was present on twelve combat missions over enemy territory. After his twelfth mission he was picked as a member of a crew that returned to the United States as the lead crew before missions. The war ended before Dietzel was recalled to combat.

The big fellow returned to civilian life and entered Miami University of Oxford, Ohio in 1945. He played at the center position for two years and was chosen as a Little All-American selection in his senior year. He also made the Grantland Rice team of Middle All-American performers. He holds the distinction of having been the president of three honorary societies while attending Miami. He graduated from the school with high academic honors.

Dietzel remained with the Miami coaching staff upon his graduation and coached there for one half year. From there he went to the Military Academy at West Point where he served as the freshman coach in football and basketball for one complete season. He left at the end of the '48 season to take a position as line coach at the University of Cincinnati. He remained there through 1950, then took his present job at the University of Kentucky.

Coach Dietzel has adjusted himself well in his present surroundings. This year he has been filling in as offensive line coach and doubles in scouting the opposition. Tennessee, one of the teams that Dietzel has scouted this year, will be the invader on Stoll Field one week from this Saturday. He may be a deciding factor in helping to lift the Neyland jinx that has bothered Kentucky teams for so many years in the past.

Co-Captain Moseley Is Player Of Week

By Don Armstrong

Before the present season began, the scribes were touting Doug Moseley as the most likely candidate for All-American honors from Kentucky, besides his co-captain co-

In last week's game with Tulane, Moseley certainly looked the part. Doug intercepted a pass against the Hurricanes that set up a Cat touchdown and hauled in a pair of enemy aerials against the Greenies, one of which he nearly converted into a score.

Moseley leads Kentucky in the interception department with four to his credit, a big factor in the success of any team. It had been expected that the Wildcats would be woefully weak in the pass-defense department. That fact became more evident when Tennessee Tech scored twice via the pass route and then the Cats bowed three straight times on successive Saturdays. "I told you so's" were echoing all over the place.

Largely due to such stalwarts as Moseley, the Cats tightened their defense in the air and began to pull back onto the road of victory. No matter how well Parilli can pass, it would have been hard for him to make the showing he has, had the Kentucky defensive team fallen down in curtailing opposing aerial attacks.

Moseley's strongest points lie in the fact that he is a rough customer at line-backing. Not only can he plug up holes in the defensive line, but he is also adept at crashing into the offensive backfield to stop a play before it has a chance to develop.

Started in '49 Moseley started out his varsity career with the Wildcats in 1949 when Bryant really began to use the two-platoon system. In that year, Doug was used as an offensive center, while Captain Harry Ullinski backed the line along with Lee Truman on defense. As a lowly sophomore stepping into the shoes formerly worn by such stars as Jay Rhodemeyer, Moseley had quite an assignment to live up to.

But Bryant, who had coached Doug's brother Bill in '47 when the latter was named honorary captain for the year, had a lot of confidence in the 24-year-old senior from Luverne, Ala. Moseley is easily recognized as a steady and dependable performer, a fact borne out by his teammates in selecting him as co-captain.

Last year "Mose" was shifted to defense, where he has remained for this season. Coach Bryant seems to have settled upon Doug's principal ability — to play it fast and rough. So, for the performance of that capacity, defensive line-backing, Moseley is our solid choice for player of the week.

Meilinger Takes Lead In Scoring

By Jim Turley

The latest release of the UK football statistics show:

Tom Fillion, sophomore fullback, is leading the Cats in the running department.

Steve Meilinger, sophomore end, has caught the most TD passes for the most yardage.

Harry 1A Jones has scored the most points.

Doug Moseley, center, has intercepted the most passes. Fillion picked up 25 yards in six tries against Tulane Saturday and now has a 5.4 average per try. Fillion has carried the ball 90 times for 290 yards.

Larry 1B Jones is tied with Allen Felch for the second best average at 5.2. Jones has carried the ball 25 times for 131 yards, while Felch has made 21 attempts for a gain of 110 yards. Harry 1A Jones has a 4.8 average per try, making 186 yards in 39 attempts.

Meilinger Scores Two More
Steve Meilinger gathered in six more Parilli passes, two for touchdowns, for 80 yards over the week-end. Meilinger has caught a total of 33 passes, seven for touchdowns, for a total of 463 yards.

Bucky Gruner has been on the receiving end of two TD passes. He has caught a total of six passes for 89 yards. Ed Hamilton has gathered in 17 passes for 244 yards and one touchdown. Jim Proffitt, sophomore end, has caught 15 passes for 139 yards and one TD. Emery Clark, senior halfback, has gathered in the flying pigskin 13 times for 158 yards and one touchdown.

Harry 1A Jones kicked five extra points in five attempts and scored one touchdown against Tulane Saturday to raise his point total to 43 for the season. Steve Meilinger scored twice against Tulane, picking up one point on Jones, and now has a season total of 42. Clark, Fillion and Gruner are tied for third place in total points scored with 24 each. Doug Moseley intercepted two passes against Tulane and now has four to lead in this department. Max Mason, Emery Clark and Ed Hamilton have each stolen two heaves from the opposition.

Touch Football Season Ends; Other Activities In Progress

By Larry Meyer

The touch football league finally finished up after the siege of bad weather. Monday's schedule saw last year's champs, SAE, downing a division III foe, PDT 22-0. ATOs passed their way through the Pi Kaps 15-0, Rebels lost to the Civil Engineers in a sudden death overtime 12-6 and the Independent champs of last year, Men's Dorms, beat BSU 19-8.

As the football season ends, I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Bill McCubbin and all the fraternity managers for making this one of the most successful leagues in recent years.

Volleyball

Volleyball got under way Monday night with three divisions of 20 teams participating. Results of first night games are: Kappa Sigma won from DTD (forfeit), SAE won by forfeit from the Farmhouse, TKE beat Pi Kaps (15-12, 15-1), PDT downed ASP (7-15, 15-4, 15-3), KA forfeited to ATO, AGR beat PSK (15-3, 15-15), Civil Engineers beat the Phi Taus (15-7, 15-2), Sigma Chi won from Delta Chis (15-5, 15-5) and the Sig Eps won from the ZBTs (15-9, 0-15, 15-5).

The schedule for next week is:
Division I
PSK vs. ZBT — Nov. 20, 7:00

SPE vs. Farmhouse — Nov. 20, 8:00
SAE vs. AGR — Nov. 20, 9:00

Tennis

The Tennis tournament has been running for four weeks. The field which has been narrowed down to two consists of Bob Waggoner, PKA and Gene Auen, PKA. Waggoner defeated Jim Harris, PKA and Auen beat Gene Neff, PKT. The finals have to be played by Nov. 16.

Golf

The doubles tourney which has come down to the finals finds Burkley and Crabtree, PDT defeating Peterson and Neff, PKT to meet Burke and Waggoner in the finals. This match must be played by Nov. 18.

Ping Pong

Out of 33 first and second round games in the ping pong tourney, only two of those have been played. Jack Mandt, SAE, defeated Edsel Rawlings, KS, and Ralph Palumbo, LXA, won from Marion Cox, AGR.

Turkey Run

The date of the turkey run has been changed from Nov. 24 to next Wednesday, Nov. 21. The time is 11:45 on the Intramural field. Any student in the university may enter providing he has never earned a letter in track, a numeral, or been out for the cross country team.

The first team award will be a cup and the first individual to cross the line will receive a turkey for Thanksgiving dinner. There is a fee of 25c per entry with no limit on number of entries from each fraternity.

Alumni Association To Honor Players And Coaching Staff

The varsity and freshman football squads and the coaching staff will be honored at the annual Alumni Association Banquet. Miss Helen King, alumni secretary, announced the banquet will be held Nov. 26 at 6:30 p.m. in the ballroom of the Student Union Building.

Miss King said program participants, including a toastmaster and a guest speaker, will be announced within a few days.

Persons interested in attending the banquet may make reservations by either calling or writing the alumni office in the Administration Building.

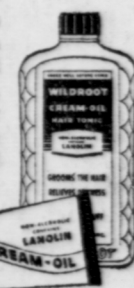

The winner of the Huey Scholarship Award will be announced that night. Each year the award is presented to the senior squad member who has the highest cumulative academic standing. Seniors on the squad include Babe Parilli, Doug Moseley, Jim Mackenzie, John Ignarski, Paul Jones, Emory Clark, Bill Leskovar, George Claiborne, Ed Hamilton, Bill Conde.

The line will receive a turkey for Thanksgiving dinner. There is a fee of 25c per entry with no limit on number of entries from each fraternity.
